A380 South Devon Link Road (SDLR)

Monthly Bulletin

Welcome to the June monthly bulletin informing you how the SDLR is progressing and what you may see over the coming weeks.

A great deal of activity can now be seen near the Penn Inn roundabout, where the footbridge and footpath adjacent to Sainsbury's have now been removed. This removal is permanent, and we ask pedestrians not to walk alongside the roadworks, but keep to the opposite (east) side of the A380 and use the underpass to cross to and from town.

Preparatory works are now in progress within the roundabout itself. Construction vehicles will be entering and exiting this area, so please be aware of their movements. Pedestrian access through the underpass will be maintained at all times during the works, and we ask pedestrians to keep to designated routes, some of which will be temporarily relocated within the roundabout.

After repairs to the South West Water water main are completed, the Penn Inn bus stop is expected to be reopened the week commencing 17th June.

On the evening of 7th June, between 19.00 and 23.59 we will be resurfacing a short stretch of the Old Newton Road, Kingskerswell, near the entrance to the SDLR offices and Elmcroft. The road will be closed between these times, and a temporary diversion will be in place. Full details can be found on our SDLR website.

The ground works are proceeding near to the Barn Owl pub, and piling rigs are being mobilised in St Lukes Road. Frequent noise and vibration monitoring is implemented at this location and throughout the construction site and is constantly reviewed by the environmental team.

At Daccabridge, Kingskerswell, culvert works and the upgrading of the children's play area have commenced. Earthworks in the fields surrounding Yon Street and Greenhill Way for the creation of an environmental bund (an earth bank to reduce noise and visibility) and a temporary road diversion have begun and are likely to be intensified in early June. The haul road in the South section from Edginswell junction is well underway and progressing through to Maddacombe Road.

As can be seen, we have been busy throughout the length and breadth of the road, and the construction programme has made good progress, with the dry weather helping the working environment.
